

CV – PROF. VEDAT GORAL

He had graduated medical school at Diyarbakir University. Professor Vedat Goral is currently working at the Department of Gastroenterology, at Istanbul Medipol University School of Medicine. Previous to this, he was working at the Dicle University from 1987 to 2012 and Izmir Medicalpark Hospital from 2012 till 2017. His specific teaching and research interests are in the areas of Gastroenterology (endoscopy, gastrointestinal diseases, liver diseases, inflammatory bowel diseases and ERCP). He has also published many refereed articles in journals covered by SCI, and contributed some to Turkish books written in Turkish. Also, he has many abstracts at national and international congress.

He studied nearly 2 years (Monbusho Scholarship) at Department of Gastroenterology, Chiba University School of Medicine, Japan, 2 months at Department of Gastroenterology, Giessen University, Germany and at Department of Gastroenterology, Chelsea&Westminster Hospital, London University, England. He speaks English and Japanese languages.

Professor Goral completed his PhD degree Dicle University, Turkey in 1986; he has studied between 1990-1991 years at Chiba University, School of Medicine Department of Gastroenterology, Japan, and 1992 years Giessen University School of Medicine Department of Gastroenterology, Germany and at 1998 years Chelsea&Westminster Hospital, Department of Gastroenterology, England.

Mine research interests. H. pylori, Endoscopy, GI tract and pancreatic cancer, ERCP.

I have many publications (Turkish and English), oral and poster presentations at National and International meetings.

Prof. Dr. Vedat Goral

ADDRESS:

Istanbul Medipol University School of Medicine
Department of Gastroenterology
Istanbul. Turkey